Dear Professor Yan:

I am very interested in your working experience and I would like to invite you to join our research projects. This is to inform you that you have been accepted as a visiting scholar at Northeast Parallel Architectures Center at Syracuse University for six months, beginning April 1, 1997, pending upon the approval of your visa extension from IRS. I will help you complete the IAP66 form to request extensions of your current visa.

Based on your working experience, I hope you could work in the NYNET project which is to build ATM-based high-speed networking infrastructure and to develop a number of education-based multimedia applications over the NYNET. I expect the research and development work will benefit you and your university significantly.

After you finish your works in California State University, I hope you could come to Syracuse University as soon as possible. You can consider this letter as an official invitation.

Sincerely,

Dr. Gang Cheng
Senior Research Scientist
