

William Cheng was the REU at Rutgers in 2018. He worked as the interface of polar imagery and MIDAS. His project was to characterize the performance of data analytic frameworks such as SPARK, DASK, MIDAS (radical-pilot) using a range of imagery algorithms for different imagery workloads. These experiments were performed on NSF XSEDE / supercomputing facilities.