

André Martin is a fifth year PhD student with a research focus on low overhead fault tolerance in Event Stream Processing systems. Prior to working on his PhD and joining the Systems Engineering group at TU Dresden, Germany, he worked at the high performance computing center (ZIH) of TU Dresden.