File Edit View Go Bookmarks Options Directory Window Help

Back Forward Home Reload Images Open Print Find Stop

Location: http://www.npac.syr.edu/Tango/

What's New? What's Cool? Destinations Net Search People Software

TANGO

This page is under construction.

Tango is a Java/WWW-based collaborative system for Internet distance education and remote collaboration. As part of integration technology developed at NPAC, this project is partially sponsored by US Air Force Rome Laboratory. Our purpose is to build a collaborative software infrastructure and integration framework to ultilize the Internet and more specifically, World Wide Web software engineering environment. Our focus of collaboration applications is on education and distance learning.

Index

- What is Tango ?
- Download and Install Tango 1.0 beta(plugin)
- Login to the Tango Server at NPAC
- Current List of Tango Applications
- Tango API for Developers
- Tango User's Guide
- Tango FAQ
- Tango Development Team

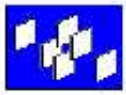
Tango (TM) is a proprietary trademark owned by Northeast Parallel Architectures Center at Syracuse University. Java (TM) is a proprietary trademark owned by Sun Microsystems, Inc.



Northeast Parallel Architectures Center
Syracuse University