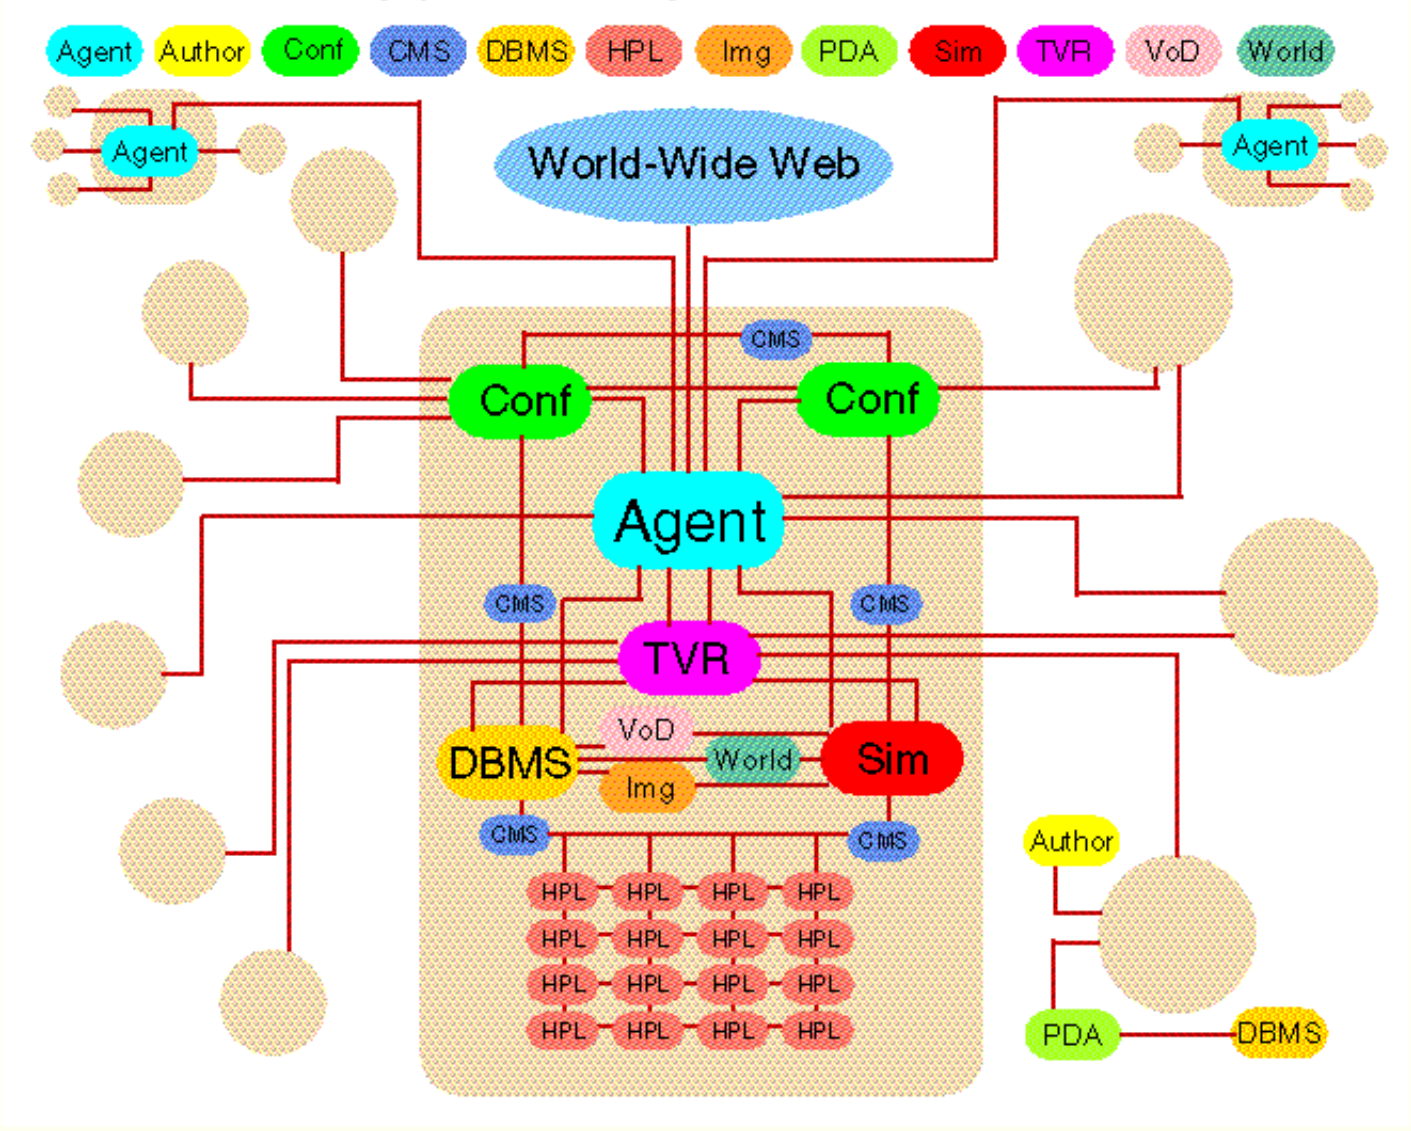
WebSpace Implementation Plan: WebWindows


The following WebFlow diagram with WebTool(kit)s modules illustrates a generic WebWindows application, including customers (left), intelligent middleware (center) and experts/service providers (right). Aspects of this architecture can be found in ongoing NPAC projects such as telemedicine or command & control. WebSpace will share infrastructure with these projects and will develop selected tools and services.